To CONSIDERERS.—Several correspondents have enclosed their views on the subject of the Prohibition election, and we have invariably cut out all that has been said on the subject. We have been as good advertisements except when we treated the matter as news.

STORY FINGER. This cool night last week, with a slight frost in the low places raised among the tobacco growers some apprehension of a frostful frost, but the warm days that week were all to the good, so that comes to the present, though tobacco leaves are being wiped vigorously wherever the tobacco is ripe.

LOCAL OPINION.—Everyone is in favor of a Prohibition law will be voted upon throughout the county next Saturday. Also the towns of Owingsville and Sharpesburg will vote in favor of it. It is expected that Prohibition will carry in the towns, but will lose in the towns fronting on the Ohio.

CANVAS FORER.—Sharpesburg, Ky., August 23, 1905.—S. M. Parcell, Dear Sir: I am more than pleased with the results of the last election for the Equitable. You carry me twenty years for nothing and return me more money than I have paid. As I have two other offices I have decided to vote in favor of the new tax, which is extremely satisfactory to me. Wishing success to you and the Equitable. Ever yours, C. W. Pease.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY.—Owingsville, Ky., Saturday to nominate a candidate for Representative from the Bath district, which includes a major portion of 450,000 inhabitants for William A. Young, of Morehead.

WHEN I AM GONE

When I am gone
I will not be in battle,
I sleep, the looks are so agonized,
Or will the world seem not to mind.

When I am gone,
When I have passed away, will some one say,

As for my not-made grave he wants no care.

"Send me to go to all, to each his day,"

And then pass quietly on, without a sigh,

When I am gone.

When I have creased my will, there will

To place a rose upon my tomb.

And speak a word of words for some dead.

Some kind word said, and mourns my death.

When I am gone,

That I am gone, in Chicago Rec'd.
